

Did you know?

Americans spent more than $19 billion
on toys in 2015.

Having too many toys can bother kids so much they have trouble learning and having fun.

Each year in the U.S., about 10 million
toys are thrown into the trash.

Out of 100 kids in the world, only three are American. But kids in America own nearly half the world's toys.

The average American child gets 70 new toys
each year.

USED TOYS

can be donated to thrift stores, homeless shelters, and preschools.

Half of American parents often throw out toys so their homes are less messy.

Resources

- Toy Industry Association, Inc.
- Statista.com
- Bennett, Linda. "Toys R Us Closes" Granville Courier & Press, 8/1/2015.
- University of California - Los Angeles.
- Lewis, Jonathan and Robbin, Tom. "Children Play Less the More Toys They Own" The Sunday Times, 10/20/11.
- "Broken Toys Recycled for Green Laundry Wipes" American Soap & Sanitary May 2011.
- Angley, Marissa. "Do You 'Take Toys'?" Millennium Recycling Inc., 6/15/15.